

Rachel E. Widra

November 2021

+1 (608) 957-3415

Rachel.Widra@gmail.com

Rachel.Widra@clev.frb.org

CURRENT POSITION

Research Analyst, Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland

August 2019 – Present

EDUCATION

B.A., University of Wisconsin- Madison

September 2015-May 2019

Major in Economics with a Mathematical Emphasis and English, Minor in Mathematics

Relevant Courses: Differential Equations, Introduction to Probability Theory, Theory of Single Variable Calculus, Wages and the Labor Market, Behavioral Economics, Law and Economics

Nondegree, Case Western Reserve University

January 2020-May 2020

Relevant Courses: Linear Algebra

PUBLICATIONS

Economic Commentaries

“Boomerang Kids In the Pandemic: How High-Income Families Are Their Own Safety Net.” with André Victor D. Luduvic, Economic Commentary, Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland. Number 2021-21.

“What Held Back Employment during the Covid-19 Pandemic and Recovery?” with Mark Schweitzer, Economic Commentary, Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland. Number 2021-23.

EDUCATIONAL PRESENTATIONS

Girls Make I.T. Better, with FRBC’s Economics Education Department, March 4, 2021

Research Code Camp, with FRBC’s Economics Education Department, July 12-16, 2021

ADDITIONAL PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

Research Analyst Intern

Education Analytics, June 2018 - July 2019

CAMPUS AND COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

Grant Allocation Committee September 2017 – May 2018

Committee Member (Spring 2017), Chair (2018)

University of Wisconsin Marching Band, September 2016-June 2019

Violence Prevention Coordinator (2018-2019)

Associated Students of Madison, September 2015- May 2016

University Affairs Committee Intern

Madison City Clerk’s Office, September 2015- November 2016

Special Registration Deputy

AWARDS & HONORS

Phi Beta Kappa Inductee, 2018

Department of Economics Ed Draminski Scholarship Awardee, 2018

Dean's List

COMPUTING

R (Expert), STATA, MATLAB (Proficient)